Just installed 5.5.1.1; the Update Now dialog box makes for unusually long pauses while its trying to fetch the update. I continued to troubleshoot until I saw the following in the Adobe updater logs:

```
'Updates' cannot be installed to the same bundle ID as 'Adobe Photoshop CS4.5 or later'.
```

```
'Updates' could not be installed to 'Adobe Photoshop CS4.5 or later'.
```

The bundle IDs are required to be unique, and 'Updates' and 'Adobe Photoshop CS4.5 or later' have the same bundle ID. Please uninstall 'Photoshop CS4.5 or later' to install these updates.

Adobe Photoshop Review I have Installed new version on my system. Please help me how to finish new version installation. PSD files are corrupt. I have asked my version support and they asked me to log into site and re-install the update. But download failed again and again. I could not find the download site for new PS version for Customer for their feedback! The long answer: You can't get the full experience of Photoshop CC on iOS. The interface is not designed to work natively on either platform, but you can factor in elements of the iOS version, such as selection tools and keyboard shortcuts. The iPhone app uses Apple's A9 chip, for example, and only one 32-bit background layer can be displayed at a time, so elemental edits like UPoint or Crop are effectively impossible. Pixel editing and gradients are also impossible in the iPhone version, which is a bummer given they're so easy to use in the desktop version.
