Prisoners of Reason: Game Theory And Neoliberal Political Economy Book Pdf

The Caley Schoolhouse, a log cabin of unknown origin, is located beside the rushing South Fork of the Blackfoot River in the Blackfoot State Forest of Idaho. The building dates back at least to the 1880's. Details are scarce, but the building has been well known to the locals to at least the early 1970's. In the early 1980's, a large group of school children became fascinated with the old building and reportedly would sneak out at night to find the log building. The building is located in a fairly remote location in a remote area of the Blackfoot River. However, the location of the building is such that it is accessible from the road a short distance to the south (about 0.9 miles or 1.4 km). The surrounding area includes a wide range of wildlife.

The present invention relates generally to an exhaust pipe cover that is supported on the vehicle exhaust pipe to protect the external surface of the exhaust pipe from the harmful effects of the hot exhaust gases passing therethrough. More specifically, the invention relates to an exhaust pipe cover that is easily released from the exhaust pipe, i.e., may be easily removed and replaced as the exhaust pipe has a greater or lesser number of exhaust pipe joints. As is well known in the prior art, exhaust pipes and manifolds used in connection with internal combustion engines and combustion furnaces have a tendency to accumulate a considerable amount of heat on the exposed external surface thereof. This tends to cause the metal of the exhaust pipe to warp or otherwise suffer physical damage. Accordingly, there has developed a need to protect the external surfaces of the exhaust pipe from the extremely hot gases passing therethrough. In the past, the operator of such vehicles as, for example, a motor vehicle, was typically required to frequently check the external surface of the exhaust pipe and to remove therefrom any excessive accumulation of heat and the like as may collect thereon. Obviously, this is a tedious and time consuming procedure, and even though the exhaust pipe is periodically inspected, the accumulation of heat thereon may still be sufficient to cause damage to the exhaust pipe. As a result, a need has arisen for an exhaust pipe cover that is readily attachable to an exhaust pipe in such a manner as to protect the external surface thereof, and that can also be readily and easily removed therefrom. In accordance with a first embodiment of the present invention, an exhaust pipe cover is provided which includes a cover member
